I think that the nude as subject matter for art is an integral and important part of the arts.

So with that welcome to my work, Female Form, a part of my larger body of work which includes landscapes, still life, and portraits. I generally prefer to shoot in natural outdoor settings, using such things as trees, rocks, bodies of water. My work is as much about the environment as it is about the model within the environment.

During the winter months, I shoot indoors, where I use natural indoor lighting.

I share my work, mostly on my website or social media, and for any magazines or articles in magazines online or in print that may want to feature my work.
